

Serving a diverse student population, our Global Health Studies Optional Program offers students advanced curriculum and experiences to prepare them for the global health science field.

Kingsbury High School (9-12)

Global Health Studies

We prepare students for global healthcare by informing, engaging, educating, and empowering students to advocate for all people and their communities.

Points of Pride

- All 12th grade scholars participate in Gear Up Career Exploration.
- We are diverse! Twenty-three different ethnic groups are represented in our learning community.
- We offer AP, statewide dual credit, and dual enrollment. Topics include physiology and anatomy, health science, medical therapeutics, and nursing education.
- We teach and prioritize integrity, objectivity, professional competence, professional behavior, and confidentiality.

Academics

- Now offering new global and public health dual-enrollment courses in partnership with University of Memphis for qualifying juniors and seniors. Classes range from Population Health and Society to Public Health in Action. Students will earn high school and college credit, paving the way for a college major in global and public health!
- Students take four years of French or Spanish to expand future career opportunities.
- We offer eight AP courses, two Pre-AP courses, four dual-credit courses, as well as six dual-enrollment courses across all disciplines.

Activities

- We host an annual Hispanic Heritage Month Community Block Party.
- Clubs and leadership opportunities: Student Council, Principal's Cabinet, Senior Committee, Garden Club, International Club, Coding Club, and Theatre Club
- Award-winning ROTC Program, Musical Storm Band, and Chamber Choir
- 14 sports, including tennis, baseball, softball, soccer, basketball, volleyball, and football
